

Student Learning Objectives and Faculty Assessment Solutions

IOTA360 is a comprehensive assessment and student learning outcome solution designed for higher education clients. One of the most challenging tasks for colleges and universities is answering the question, "Are our students coming out of our programs with the knowledge and expertise we planned for them to have?" and "How do we measure and review faculty performance?" Measuring these Student Learning Outcomes (SLOs) and faculty measures is becoming increasingly important in today's competitive and scrutinized educational environment. We help schools to improve data usage in assessment, student learning outcomes, accreditation, program review, and strategic planning.

IOTA Solutions has addressed all assessment and reporting needs through our IOTA360 solution. It allows your institution to measure your SLOs and faculty performance using the goals, objectives and Rubrics (provided by IOTA or by your institution) which can be set for each department and program. We help you to streamline your process and centralize your institutional data by providing powerful reporting tools and processes. Furthermore, IOTA360 can be integrated with MyClassEvaluation® to provide your institution with comprehensive and multi-pronged reporting.

The system supports the following modes of measuring the Students and Faculty:

- 1) Student SLOs rated by their instructor or other faculty/staff (including multiple raters)
- 2) Mentor, Peer, Administrator or Subordinate ratings of Faculty and Staff (360 degree review)
- 3) Faculty Self-Assessment
- 4) Student peer ratings

Performance Review

IOTA360 allows you maximum flexibility in rating your SLOs. Your institution defines the way the student artifacts are identified and collected and the goals and rubrics for each department or course. For faculty reviews, your institution defines all the relationships as well as the criteria used to perform the review. We do the rest; including handling all support questions from students or faculty. After the data has been collected, the system provides automated comprehensive reports which will highlight the strengths or deficiencies of each group of students or individual faculty members, as well as the raw data to allow more detailed analysis.

Student Learning Outcomes

There are plenty of providers that can handle the technical specifications of the assessment process, but IOTA is unique in the level of implementation, flexibility, and support provided. We will handle the support needs of your entire system (students, faculty, administrators) so you don't have to. You get all the confidence from complete control and oversight of the process, without the burden of managing the delivery and support.
